Disclaimer: As this drill requires physical movement, minor injuries may occur. Additionally, this drill will occur outside which poses the risk of sun related damage, including but not limited to sunburn, heat stroke, extreme fatigue, and dehydration. If you have known medical conditions that may prevent you from taking part in this simulation, please consult your physician before signing up to participate. In the event that less than five members from a specific EMS agency participate, their results will not be reported to prevent negative repercussions for participating.
